Promise of Moderating Wind Raises Hopes in Storm Areas

a train from Matville, 80 miles north of Fort Smith, Friday night pushed through with coal and food to relieve the hospital.

Schools Are Closed

Throughout the area schools were closed, churches planned to cancel Sunday meetings or hold joint services. All stores and some homes took steps to preserve coal stocks.

Mettlach cut street lighting Friday night, but had turned on half its lights again by 10:30 its main street. At Weyburn, 120 miles east of here, the wind was blowing 80 mph and at Bengough, 60 miles southwest of Regina, officials planned to close schools.

In Regina more than 100 calls to an emergency coal centre have come from citizens.

The food situation in Saskatchewan's isolated capital reflected conditions in the rest of the province. Fresh meat supplies would only last over the weekend, milk was running short, flour supplies were low, bread was being rationed, steam and bakeries delivered only stores.

Relief Will Come

Relief will not come to Manitoba until later in the day. Although the Red River area of Brandon, Saskatchewan, Brandon's second largest city, announced school would be closed Saturday, the weather is relieved. In another conservation measure, only one church of the 100 in Brandon will be used Sunday.

Winnipeg's streets and bus lines were closed Saturday night although some 100 buses to run to surrounding suburban areas were curtailed. A 100-mile radius of the city was open. Week-end deliveries were uncertain.

Storm or indirectly because of storm, cold or fires attributed to the extreme weather, 30 lives have been lost in Canada's prairie provinces since Jan. 1.

From Carroll, Iowa, it was reported that a branch line passenger train served "home" Friday and Saturday for the persons after the ball.

Flights, snows, mud and ice in the mountains groves as the mercury dropped below freezing for two days in years have caused much trouble.

Meanwhile Canada's west coast, where the winter has been mild, reported 50 above zero at Vancouver, 60 miles south of the city, and at Bengough, 60 miles southwest of Regina, officials planned to close schools.

In Regis more than 100 calls to an emergency coal centre have come from citizens.

More Help From Ottawa

The Dominion has forgivens the province of Alberta its treasury bill indebtedness to the amount of $5,280,500. This is about half the amount advanced to the province from the federal treasury with which the province had agreed to extend relief. Cancelling the obligation is an act in liquidation of the financial aftermath of the great depression.

Another Dominion treasury bill has been loaned to the province to the amount of $28,216,000. Of this sum the province will pay off $2,000,000 of its outstanding debt so that this brings the debt down to $12,280,500. Upwards of half this sum is non-interest-bearing.

This remaining sum will be amortized over three years. The rate on the interest bearing bills is cut to 2 1/2 per cent.

Following the completion of the very long, arduous and difficult task of winding down and amortization of the treasury bill indebtedness at a reduced rate of interest is a second installment of help from the Dominion in bettering the economic situation. It is a long way to go but it will go a long way towards putting the provincial government in position to fulfil its constitutional responsibilities by undertaking constructional enterprises and creating services.

As one good turn deserves another, Premier Manning announces that this repayment of the outstanding treasury bills will be followed by a new deal with Edmonton and other cities in respect to provincial treasury bills held by the municipalities.

It is the hope of the government in the financial situation of the province will thus work back to provincial and municipal taxpayers. Either in the form of tax-free bills, or tax-free services for which the taxpayer need not have to supply any more money.

The benefits thus obtained at the expense of the treasury trust can be properly regarded as a set-off to the income or other taxation which the federal government imposes on the taxpayers of the province.

Blizzards & Empty Bins

In this winter of abnormal conditions everywhere, no part of Canada has been harder hit than the prairie states. In all cases, the blizzard has swept across the plains, blocking railways and highways, reducing transportation to an uncertain trifle, burying coal trains and snow plows.

The reports coming from Regina tell of conditions while Edmonton seemed to have it easier than most in the city. Coal bins, however, are still less serious than in smaller towns which have been cut off from sources of food and fuel supply for many days, or even weeks. For the most part, the prairie states are the others. Passengers running on the main lines keep running until Friday, though away behind schedule, and planes have managed to land most of the time.

It is of course many years since a comparable experience before the residents of that or any other prairie state had to get by on what point to remember is that such conditions occasionally sweep down upon one area or another. And it is too late to "remember" when they have arrived.

It should be easy next summer to sell coal in southern Saskatchewan well in advance of winter. Farmers will be able to get paid for in other areas prior to laying in their winter's fuel before cold weather arrives. There are times when a binful of coal is literally worth its weight in gold. Under normal circumstances, it arrives the coal cannot be got for any amount of gold.

That is a very practical moral which people in all non-mining parts of the prairie country can draw from the experience of the winter in the broad and more thickly populated section of Saskatchewan.

Time to Say Something

There is no mistaking the significance of the events in Palestine from the point of view of the European and American peoples from Palestine.

As a precaution against incidents which might happen in the disturbed areas the order to evict the Jews from Palestine had been timely long ago. Issues in the order were to be decided for which the mandate was issued. The measures are to be taken to suppress the outlawry Hitler tolerated.

With the entry of Nations gave Britain a mandate to direct the affairs of that area. This was not done with the aim or intention that the present state of affairs would be allowed to develop as Hitler had planned.

Washington: The Mexican government today entered the lists as peace-maker, with a note to all neutrals proposing joint action to end the war in Palestine.

New York: China has broken off diplomatic relations with Germany.

The public school board is asking council for $600,000 with which to repair the schools that have suffered.

One million pounds of fish have been taken from Lake St. Louis by commercial fishermen.

Mexico City: President Carranza proposes to stop the war by cutting off supplies and munitions from neutral countries for the belligerents.

Rumors are current that if the city refuses to sell, the British government will expropriate the entire telegraph system.

Members of the Alberta Dairy Pool authorized the directors to acquire fifteen twenty more creameries.

The Westminster-Ashley Windsor Castle St. George's Chapel choir arrived in the city today. The annual banquet of the Alberta Curling Association opened in the city tomorrow.

Premier Abbott stated that as yet the government had not had any definite policy in Palestine. They were trying to do what nobody has professed to know, being argue for peace and trying to catch immigrant ships.

The tit-for-tat bantams of trading prisoners for those who had been captured did not quieten the situation. Nor the prestige of Great Britain.

In a stern course is to be taken for the suppression of lawlessness, there should go with this a clear definition as to what is intended in the way of a final and permanent settlement. If the mind of the nation is definitely made up on that question they had better turn the whole sorry tanglement over to the United Nations. Jews and Arabs must be satisfied with what is in store for them, and the world at large has also some right to know.

Built 'Varsity

Thirty-nine years ago Dr. H. M. Tory came to Strathcona to organize the University of Alberta. He remained twenty years later when there were 1,700 students. The university has now expanded and well equipped buildings, under direction of a teaching staff which had grown out of a small group.

More important still, the first president and the head of instructors had set standards which gave the institution a high place among Canadian universities.

Today in these early days are an asset to "Varsity. Graduates through all the following years have shown how much they owe to the exacting requirements with which, from the beginning have been demanded of its students.

From Alberta Dr. Tory went to Ottawa to become head of the National Research Council. His services in that and other capacities in many parts of the Dominion deserve the high tributes which have been paid in parliament and elsewhere.

But in Alberta it is the man who "made" the provincial University that Dr. Tory will be missed. His influence will be felt in the province he left, but his memory will be regretted nowhere more keenly than in the province he left. A peculiar sense of loss will be felt by those—now along in middle life—who spent their student days under his inspiring leadership.

Faith and Egotism

The news column tell the story of a woman in West Virginia who is dead as a result of drinking in a religious ceremony. It seems that she took this step to secure salvation which the Almighty would protect her from all evil any day.

This is part and parcel of the same tragic movement demonstrated by other cults whose members permit ratiocinates to bite them in belief that true believers may not be harmed by anything. Those who seem usually die.

Unfortunately, with these tragic instances of extremism are comparatively rare, the kind of thinking they denote is reasonably common among many who believe themselves to be Christians.

The man, for instance, who prays fervently for some selfish advantage for himself is demonstrating exactly the same kind of attitude toward God as the woman who swallowed stretches of egotism.

They both indicate a belief that the Almighty is more concerned with their personal welfare than with the welfare of the world.

It is very true that the individual soul is most precious to God. But certainly no benison would be conferred upon the soul of an individual who believed that the Almighty was more interested in his personal welfare than in the welfare of the world.

Unfortunately, with these tragic instances of extremism is the kind of thinking they denote is reasonably common among many who believe themselves to be Christians.

Usually, much prayer falls into this category, indeed asked daily for earthly favors that not only would do the petitioner no good, but might do him or her actual harm.

The best and truest prayer is for the advancement of God's Kingdom and the observance of His will. In this case perfect love, justice and content will prevail.

London Free Press. In the "good old days" we had shirts with tails, two pairs of pants of garters, and stockings, nice neighbors, road shows, picnics, the Western Fair, private enterprise, churchgoers, home-grown vegetables, a house to ourselves, time, faith, hope and charity.

Premier Abbott stated that as yet the government had not had any definite policy in Palestine. They were trying to do what nobody has professed to know, being argue for peace and trying to catch immigrant ships.

The tit-for-tat bantams of trading prisoners for those who had been captured did not quieten the situation. Nor the prestige of Great Britain.

In a stern course is to be taken for the suppression of lawlessness, there should go with this a clear definition as to what is intended in the way of a final and permanent settlement. If the mind of the nation is definitely made up on that question they had better turn the whole sorry tanglement over to the United Nations. Jews and Arabs must be satisfied with what is in store for them, and the world at large has also some right to know.

From the moment the first scene unrolls on the screen until the time when the last action fades from view "DEAD OF NIGHT" will hold you gripped in its peculiar spell.

A picture remarkably packed with violence, love, compassion, and adventure into the unknown.

It is the drama at a stroke... the foaming comedy by four masters of suspense, interpreted by four top directors; acted by an extraordinary cast... it is all of those that make "DEAD OF NIGHT" the breathlessly undulated entertainment it is.

Some of it you may not believe. All of it you will want to see again... and again!

FURTHER DELVING INTO THE SUBJECT of hockey sticks is the fact that quality is not the only problem facing clubs today, but the unusual losses through breakages have resulted in an extremely critical situation in the matter of supply.

And right now postponement of games within the next few days is not only a distinct possibility, but very likely to come about, unless shipments are received in the city early next week.

Officials of both Canadians and Capitols, whose second junior play-off game is scheduled for tonight, were just about desperate yesterday, and unless there is a decided slackening off in the breakage rate at the arenas this evening, both clubs may find it impossible to continue the series.

Stick Situation Serious

THESE JUST ARENT ANY FIRST quality sticks coming through," said Ken Henry, manager of Canadian juniors Friday night, "and it's a lot more serious than people realize."

"We had 30 sticks in November and they all went. We managed to pick up a few on our recent trip and even brought in three dozen from Calgary. In addition four of us managed to collect 18 on Thursday and all of these have only six left for Saturday's game."

"We've been paying on an average well over $2 each and it doesn't require much of a mathematician to figure out our stick bill, and the other clubs must be in just about the same boat."

"We used up 24 sticks in two practices this week and they cost us $80. We've even barreled snap shots on our club, and Marchant tried to pick up a high pass the other night and his stick broke into three pieces."

"If we break many tomorrow, we just won't be able to play next week."

Twelve Rinks in Consols

ON MONDAY 12 RINKS FROM Northern Alberta will start out along the trail that eventually leads to the Macdonald Rink, emblem of Canadian curling supremacy.

Draws will be made at the Macdonald hotel on Sunday for the 12 entries in the British Consols playoff. The northern winner will meet the southern champion and the winner of this series will represent Canada in the entry list.

Including in the entry list is Billy Ross, the major threat in this year's playoff. Others in the northern playoff are: Dr. Kaufman Bill Gray, Harold Ritchie and Bert Robertson, of Granite; Percy Clement, Ollie Olson, Cliff Manahan—a two-time winner, of the Brier; and George McLaughlin and Bert Ross; Jack Slavik, Viking, and A. Brown, of the Edmonton Club.

Ingy Admits It Was 13-0

INGY CAMERON, WHO TOSSES LEAD rocks for Johnny Glass' Royal Rock and is performing a pretty fair job, will admit (despite the officially recorded score) his quartet stopped after six ends and stood 13-0. Cameron, a member of the Royal, also will admit that the Gloucesterites won the 5 o'clock draw with an unrecorded reading 12-0. And if you're going to say that he was still 13-0, then he was.

Annual meeting of the Alberta Curling Association will be held at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon in salon "A" at the Macdonald. Officers will be elected and other business discussed.

RCAF (Edmonton) defeated Fort Richardson (Alaska) 11-3 at the arena here last night. Did somebody say something about stick breakage? Well, the boys from Fort Richardson used American-made variety and didn't break any. The Canadian airmen broke eight.

Golden Bear Cagers Stretch League Lead

University Golden Bears, unbeaten in league play stretched their lead atop the Edmonton Senior Men's Basketball League Friday night when they turned back Canadian Legionnaires 57-25 in the second half of a doubleheader at the Varsity Drill Hall. University Clubs dropped a junior league fixture to YMCA Terriers 15-15 in the opener.

It was truly team victory for the Golden Bears who played combination basketball and football and the lineup entered the competition except Bill Proctor.

THE STUDENTS out-scored the Legionnaires 25-12 in the first half and took control of the game in the second frame to lead 52-17. The Bears then scored the losers 15-5 in the third and held a comfortable 57-34 margin.

In the junior game, Ron MacLachlan with 12 and a fast pace led the Terriers to a 10-9 win over the oil-sentimented winners 6-2 in the first frame, but Varsity's quiet came roaring back in the third.

THE GAME started slow with the Terriers taking a 2-0 lead in the first frame but Varsity's quick came roaring back in the Varsity's 10-9 win.

ARCADIA, Calif. — Feb. 7.—(AP)—New Yorker, three-year-old, three-ton, one-toned oil can, ran six furrows in 1.00-2.5 Friday in a performance hailed as one of the greatest ever seen in time and distance in United States turf racing.

Heads look at Clang as a three-year-old, running the six furrows in 1.00-3.5 at Cincinnati, Oct. 10, 1946, and the 100-ton pounds Yankee Parker placed 12th in the day. He was clocked at 2.45-1.5 and 2.5.

Ghost Town Explored By Nahanni Safari

EXCLUSIVE

Wartime Boom Centre Empty Husk of City

This is the third in a series of articles presented exclusively by THE EDMONTON BULLETIN from Pierre Burton, who with other members of The Vancouver Sun newspaper party, has set out to reveal the secrets of the South Nahanni Valley.

By PIERRE BURTON

WITH THE HEADLESS VALLEY EXPEDITION, PINCHI LAKE, Feb. 8. At the foot of a mountain full of mercury we found a town built for 2,500 persons lying silent and empty in the ice-locked fastness of the north.

It was a strange sort of ghost town that we explored after our Nahanni-bound aircraft set its skis down on the sheet of Pinchi Lake. No buildings slant at crazy angles on rotting streets, nor do the ghosts of stampede days haunt the buildings — stores, homes, dormitories, offices, bowing alley, movie theatre and dance hall — stand newly painted and pin-neat along the orderly streets and only the silence and the boarded windows tell you that this wartime boom town is now only an empty husk of a city.

Metal Waiting to Be Mined

Eight years ago, this lake and mountain were nothing more than a routine hunk of topography by the crazy — but true — of central British Columbia's lake and forest system. But by mid-war Pinchi Lake was producing virtually all the mercury for the United Nations. It was the biggest mercury mine in the British Empire, the biggest in North America.

The maddening puzzle of Pinchi Lake is that the mercury is still there, a whole mountain full of it, asking to be mined. But the world's biggest mercury mine stands idle although it is equipped to turn out 1,200 tons of mercury a month, as it did in the peak war years.

It Comes From Franco Spain

Today Canada's mercury comes not only from its own mines on the shores of Pinchi Lake, but from Italy and from Franco-dominated Spain.

Why did Pinchi Lake shut down tight in 1947? Why were there 1,800 flasks of unsold mercury on hand at the mine at the time of the shutdown? Why is the metal still piped across the ocean from Europe? Is it illegal, understanding the Canadian product? These are some of the questions that the men of the north, who helped stake out the Pinchi area in the pioneer days of 1938, would like to have answered.

Lawrence Dickinson, Fort St. James, B.C., one of the first claims in the area, is being undercut by European interests, but Dickinson uses an uglier word, "caricata." "Why don't they sell Canadian mercury?" he asked again yesterday. "That's the answer I'd like to get from someone, but no one will give it."

Ace in Hole for War Comes

Pinchi Lake itself, wrapped in the mantle of wartime secrecy, is still pretty much of an unknown quantity to the average Canadian. Few laymen realize that British Columbia has the largest known mercury deposit that ranks with the top mercury mines of the world.

Even in its dormant state, Pinchi Lake is a gamble in the hole in the event of a third world war.

The full story of the discovery of the fabulously rich deposit, just seven minutes' flying time from Fort St. James, has never been told. It is a bizarre and romantic saga. Bound up with it is the story of Charlie Elliott for $50.

Baker Passed Up Claim

Elliot, now in Pinchi with his prospector Dan Miner and son-in-law, was pistling our plane when he heard a pinging sound from our plane. On the trip to Pinchi his pontoon plane crashed into an unknown lake. Dan Miner was killed and Elliott was taken to hospital after his engineer Bill Martin, cruelly injured, impaled himself through head and stomach for nine days.

That spring, Andy Ostrem, his son-in-law, and his partner with Dan Miner, Paul Baker, came to Pinchi with bush pilot Russ Baker and staked the claim that was to make him rich.

Those claims, when they were measured, almost sight unseen by C. M. & S. made their six owners (fabulously rich).

$45,000 For Six Men

Without inventing a nickel in the town, the six men got $45,000 for 15 per cent of their claims. They kept the remaining 15 per cent because they were retaining 75 per cent as his share.

Ostrem sold his 2½ per cent to his son-in-law, Russ Baker, today in Vancouver Island on the $100,000 annuity he got in return.

The others made as much as $30,000 a year on their fraction of the acre.

The man left in the area today is Lawrence Dickinson, who still operates his general store at Pinchi Lake. He has been a benefactor to the community, grub-staked many a needy prospector and built a rich roll of the million-dollar wartime prospect.

TOUGH GUY: John O'Brien, one of the gang of five surprised by police during an attempt to steal a million dollars from a Chicago real estate office, in a money exchange still struggles as cops lead him to a cell. In the gunplay that broke up the robbery three policemen were wounded and two bandits killed. One gunman died.

PRESS AGENT HITS A NEW LOW: Some folks say that press agents will descend to anything and here's one who appears to have gone to the bottom of the sea to promote Florida's annual Citrus Week. However, he's just at the bottom of the huge tank at Winter Haven's Marine Studio, spreading the news to porpoise and other fish.

GIANT IN FACT: Supervised by missus, Mary Louise Hartung, out of Army Air Forces, puts baseball in hands of ants feeds two-year-old stepson, Steven Louis Hyden, 2½. The home, Aspinwall, Pa., is the former home of half-inch, 215-pound Hartung batted .355 in Class C Northern League in 1942, pitched and batted phenomenally as outfielder in service since. New York Giants gave Minneapolis club $35,000 and four players for contract of most widely heralded post-war prospect.

HUTTERITE WOMEN: Hutterites, who established colonies in Southern Alberta toward the close of the first World War, are returning to the U.S. The two colonies already have settled in the American Midwest. Several other groups have left Manitoba, settling on some of the lands in South Dakota where they vacated when the U.S. withdrew immigrants from military service during World War I.

Princess Elizabeth, the Duchess of Kent, King George, Queen Mother Mary, Queen Elizabeth, the Duke of Gloucester (background), Princess Margaret Rose and the Princess Royal.

MAY MAKE GOVERNORS ENVIOUS: The ultra-modernistic structure pictured above is a scale model of the proposed $230,000 mansion for Michigan's governors. Designed by architect Alden B. Dow, the building provides workable business space for the governor, complete privacy for his family, housing for visitors and adequate quarters for the necessary household help and chauffeur.

The mansion has 12 bedrooms—three for the governor's guests, four for his family and five for the domestic help. Lower floor of the three-story plan includes a banquet room 29 by 50 feet.

BEAUTY GETS KISS: Long-time Pal Draper, current queen of the University of British Columbia's Mardi Gras, is given a congratulatory kiss by Eric W. Mamber, chancellor of the university and former B.C. lieutenant-governor during the crowning ceremony.

PENN HELPS COPS: William Penn, a 2½-year-old dreamer, talks to a policeman enough to help Philadelphia police, but that's what he will be doing. Family William Penn, state status policeman, Philadelphia's City Hall, rigged up with an antenna that will permit simultaneous two-way telephone conversations between police headquarters and patrol cars.

TODAY'S MESSAGE

What Democracy Demands

"The greatest menace to freedom," a great jurist once said, "is the lack of information." Those who demand the privileges of democracy but are indifferent to its duties, in these crucial postwar years, we need more than ever to prove our readiness to work for as well as enjoy democracy.

In our daily lives, we must help to preserve democracy and promote national unity by showing a growing concern for the welfare of others. This means a genuine interest in the other's needs and a feeling of kinship with other people. Because human welfare must be first in our scale of values, we must oppose all forms of discrimination aimed at minority groups on the grounds of race, creed, or color.

In our civic capacity, we should not only exercise intense personal interest in public affairs, we should be kept informed on all matters of public concern. We should support honest differences, but build up defenses against unscrupulous propaganda, and especially by uniting international fellowship and good will.

Besides being loyal to the ideals of our country, we should exemplify the high spiritual faith of our Founding Fathers. Without that faith none may live in honor, dignity and truth. Let us keep the spirit of democracy alive in our hearts, our country will continue to prosper and the peoples of other lands will draw inspiration from us in the common struggle toward a golden age of friendship, understanding, and co-operation in the world.

Special Service Planned** Arrange Observance Of CGIT-Tuxis Week

By Helen Ferris

A special script in the form of an interview written by Miss Doris Berry and enacted by three other Edmonton girls, the Misses Lois Neilson, Lorna Bissett, and Ruth Goss, will open a feature of CGIT — Tuxis Week, Feb. 16. The series will continue.

Tuesday over CKUA.

THEME — The observance this year is "Ye Shall Be Witnesses." One McT and special services on passing through CGIT. Tuxis and Trail Ranger programs will be held in most centres on Feb. 16. Boys and Girls Sunday, Feb. 16, there will be no inter-city service.

Now 22 years old, the CGIT movement has grown to a national membership of 1,200,000. Some 200 girls in Alberta and 66 groups representing 650 girls in Edmonton. There were 10 CGIT groups in Alberta last year, 1200 including more than 120 girls attending the 124 who attended four "Intercity" meetings. The public is invited.

The CGIT is governed by three Girls' Work Boards, the second of which is the Canadian Board. This year are Miss Constance I Young, Miss Margaret Sanden, and Miss Elizabeth Falkenberg (executive secretary president). Mrs. W. J. Bryson is chairman of the local board. The three councils under this board are the Eastern, the Western, and the Central, each of which Miss Nira Sander is program chairman; the Lester Grand Council, and the Alberta and Mrs. Frank Hall; and the senior Girls' Council, of which Miss Joan Campbell is Edmonton president. Miss Sander is Alberta's provincial president.

The Tuxis movement is sponsored by similar "Hoy's" Work Board, which the Rev. Dr. R. Trites is chairman of the Edmonton district, and Harold W. Sprague is secretary. Also, the CGIT program, the Tuxis Council of physical, intellectual, spiritual, and social development are based on the tenets of the P.T.A., sponsored by similar Hoy's Work Board.

THE ANNUAL TUXIS picnic is the highlight of this boy's work for the year. It will be held on April 12, with experiences in public speaking and actual participation in parliamentary procedure, and given them for the gift.

THE MORNING PAPER

After being arrested for breaking into the Teenie Weenie town hall, Ginky and his light-pawed friend were locked up in the pint fruit jar which the little folk use for a jail. It wasn't very pleasant there because the greedy mice received only two grains of corn a day. After a few days of being shut up, they became very humble. They offered to lead upright lives if the Teenie Weenies would set them free, and they crossed their mousy hearts to prove their good intentions. Finally the Teenie Weenies set the mice free. But in no time the rascals were up to their old tricks, as the Teenie Weenies learned from Tilly Titter, their morning newspaper.

The English sparrow flies all about the neighborhood of the Teenie Weenie village and nothing misses her bright little eyes. Almost every morning she brings gossip to the little folk and that is most welcome, for Teenie Weenies do not get about often during the cold weather when deep snow covers the ground.

One morning the Teenie Weenie Cook put on three dried peas to boil while he waited for the two pans of Teenie Weenie bread to bake in the tiny stove oven. The Lady of Fashion began washing up the hazel nut mixing bowl and the Policeman, who had smelled the baking bread, strolled into the kitchen just as someone began tapping on the window.

"That's probably Tilly," said the Cook. "Open the window."

The Policeman opened one of the tiny windows and Tilly Titter popped her head through the opening.

The TEENIE WEEENIES

by WM. WM. DONAHUE

The sparrow giggled and twittered so much the Teenie Weenies could hardly understand her chirping but at last they made out that Ginky had gotten into trouble again.

"E was mussin' around in one of the big 'ouses and 'e fell into a jar of molasses," she said. "'E's all stuck up and can't get the bloomin' stuff off 'is fur. 'E's licked 'imself off as far as 'e can reach 'imself, but there's a lot of 'imself 'e can't reach and 'e's been rollin' in the snow tryin' to get that off."

The Cook took a pan of bread from the oven and dumped the loaves out onto the kitchen table. "Serves him right," grinned the Cook. "Ginky and his pals are lazy thieving mice."

"It's too bad it isn't Summertime," giggled Tilly. "Then we would see some action."

"How's that?" asked the Policeman.

"If Ginky 'ad all that molasses on 'imself in Summer the bees and the flies would be after 'im a-plenty," answered Tilly.
